TAFT EXPECTS VICTORY IN THE OHIO PRIMARIES

Campaign Managers Of The Big Secretary Are Not Worrying Over The Outcome Of Vote.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Columbus, O., Feb. 10.—Popular primaries will be held by the republicans in practically all the eighty-eight counties of Ohio tomorrow for the selection of delegates and alternates to the state convention. The convention will be held early next month, and it will select in addition to four delegates-at-large to the republican national convention, candidates for governor and other state officers.

The primary will be in reality the first skirmish of consequence in the presidential battle of 1908. The result will show in unmistakable figures whether Taft or Foraker is to control the Ohio delegates to the Chicago convention. The fight was launched when the republican state committee issued the call for the primaries and convention. The primary plan was the idea of the Taft supporters and it was adopted in the face of bitter opposition from the Foraker element. The Foraker people met a second defeat when they attempted to block the primaries through court proceedings.

The Taft campaign managers are not worrying over the outcome of the primaries. They are confident that the result will be an overwhelming victory for the secretary of war and will secure the election of four Taft men as delegates-at-large to the national convention in Chicago next June.

The Foraker people are practically ready to acknowledge themselves beaten on the delegates-at-large, but they profess to expect to pick up many district delegates, some of their estimates amounting to as high as half the delegation.

The vote of the counties tomorrow, however, will make it a very easy matter to reckon the relative strength of the two leaders as regards the district delegates as well as the delegates to the state convention. The Taft managers declare the showing of Foraker strength will be so poor as to produce every great demoralization among his followers. They are not even willing to concede that Foraker will win in the organized labor strongholds, where Taft is supposed to be weakest. They declare that Ohio is solidly for Taft, that he has the backing of substantially all of the republican newspapers of the state, and that the delegation to Chicago will vote for him as a unit, first and last and all the time.

COMPLETE ARRANGEMENTS FOR STATE CONVENTION

State Chairman H. H. Manson Says That All Is In Readiness For The Gathering In Milwaukee.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 10.—Chairman H. H. Manson of the Democratic State Central Committee has nearly completed arrangements for the democratic state convention which will be held at the Davidson theatre Thursday afternoon.

Doherty Chairman.
John P. Doherty, a young attorney whose home is at La Crosse has been selected for the temporary chairmanship. Nothing has been said about who will be selected for permanent chairman.

Not Decided.
"That is a matter which rests entirely with the convention," said Mr. Manson today. The general work of the convention will be the selection of delegates to the national democratic convention and while there are a number of candidates in the field the rivalry is a friendly one.

Would Like Job.
Chairman H. H. Manson has spoken of as a candidate for membership on the national committee to succeed Timothy D. Ryan of Waukegan. He said today he had made no effort to secure the position but that he is a candidate as a delegate to the national convention. Mr. Manson has announced his intention to retire as chairman of the state central committee.

Favor Bryan.
Racine, Wis., Feb. 10.—The Racine democratic delegates to the democratic state convention to be held in Milwaukee next Thursday will be instructed to support William Jennings Bryan for president and Michael Higgins, Jr., as delegate to the national convention.

EXCITING RUNAWAY
ON THE EAST SIDE

Team of Blacks All But Dashed
Through Bower City Bank Window
Off Horse Fell and Broke Leg—
Pedestrians Pitched Down Stairway.

While returning from a drive to Milton Junction, Mr. and Mrs. S. F.
Schmitt of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs.
P. Neuse of Milwaukee, who were enroute by the overland route, were encountered on Milton avenue near the intersection of Glen street shortly before four o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr.
Neuse struck heavily on one of his shoulders and was badly bruised but he and all of the party escaped uninjured of a serious nature. The party was riding behind the fine team of blacks owned by Ryan & Son and the accident occurred when the horses sledded at a street car and one of the runners caught in the track. Thoroughly frightened by this turn of affairs the team started on a mad gallop for the heart of the city. As they reached the intersection of Main street, the high horse tried to turn back directly for the east window of the Bower City bank. But the off horse pulled hard for the straight route and swerving back toward the west main, the mad steeds tried a dash across the sidewalk between the painted barbershop totens and a telephone pole. Pedestrians, trying to get out of the way, plunged down the basement stairway leading to the Wisconsin parlors, and George Helmer
who lives on Pearl street, Fred Jones,
a resident of South Jackson street,
and Emil Hummer whose home is on Academy street, were pitched nearly the whole length, escaping serious injury in some inexpressible manner. The off-horse slipped and fell heavily near the stairway entrance and broke its left fore leg near the joint. According to Dr. Little, the latter condition of the humerus is fractured and complete recovery, even under the best possible treatment, would be a matter of considerable doubt. The animal was shot this afternoon. The loss for the owner will be two hundred dollars.

THAT FIVE DOLLAR
BILL AND THE PUP

Stocking Not Safe Depositary For Money When Dogs Are Around
The House.

It was pathetic for a while. Both the young lady who lost the five dollars and for the puppy that chewed it up and swallowed it. Perhaps the pup suffered most but the young lady enjoyed a mental anguish that the money will never remedy. It happened that last week the young lady received the five dollars as part of her salary.
Not having her pocket book with her
she placed the bill in her stocking.
Forgetting it at night it remained in the stocking until a small pup began worrying the article in question during the night, perhaps thinking it was a savage rat and out dropped the bill. Now the dog was evidently an opious and wanted to sample the new article, so he proceeded to chew it up and swallow it. The next morning came the discovery. The bits of the green bill on the floor, the injured influence of the pup, dreaming perhaps of ariolans the money would have bought, were his undoing and strenuous methods were used, much to his pup's internal disgust and the bill recovered. Not in its entirety, however, for its pieces when pasted on a sheet of paper resemble some weird drawing of the prehistoric cliff dwelling period. However, there is enough of the bill left to be redeemed and while pup has suffered, the young lady has her money back.

Governor Harris of Ohio at bottom.
Congressman Nicholas Long-
worth at top.

Columbus, O., Feb. 10.—Governor
Harris has definitely declared his desire for renomination and re-election as governor of Ohio. This announcement has been brought forth in a letter to the master of the State Grange and is occasioned by the reports from Washington that Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Cleveland is to also be a candidate for governor. Longworth, it will be remembered, is the president's son-in-law. He has not made formal announcement of gubernatorial ambitions, but Washington publications give him credit for desiring to succeed Harris. The latter's letter to the master of the State Grange is the first formal suggestion that the present incumbent wants to succeed himself.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY
IS FAR MORE SEDATE

Leaning Is Toward Gifts Rather Than Dainty Cards With Hearts
and Cupids.

St. Valentine, the up-to-date saint of old romance, is rather a sober chap
this year, if one may judge by the sedate but perceptible trend of his devotees. While store windows are bright and smiling, with tinsel curls of frank and unblushing sentiment, the trend,
so the shopkeepers anticipate, will be toward gifts, on Feb. 14, of a more substantial sort.
Christy and Gibson pictures, converted into valentines by the simple affixing of a red, red heart inscribed
"To My Valentine," are examples of the change in style which the stores have anticipated and provided for.
This sort of thing is a little too expensive for youth to scatter with prodigal hand, but the simplification seems to be in the direction of good taste.
Of course the old favorites are not lost to show that the industry is not unfading. There are pretty dolls, bold, but not too bold, stepping out of bursts of forget-me-nots, with such long-year sentiments as:
Leap year comes but once in four;
Won't you be my Valentine?
I am yours forever more;
Won't you be my Valentine?
You hesitate? I fly the door;
Now come and find your Valentine!

Lines from Bobbie Burns, Robert Browning, Tennyson, and other poets are found on many of the "shipper cards."

Couples are relegated chiefly to the little candy stores, the good anthony-ery stores having practically ceased to carry them. Those that do, refuse to waste valuable window space in displaying them. The nearest approach to the couple is the innocent fascia of a Teddy bear series and a few dainty valentines. The change is agreeable.

MAKE COMMENT THAT
HAS ITS OWN STING

Beloit Free Press Comments on Janesville Man's Opinion of Bryan
as a Candidate.
With a sting to it that can be read
between the lines, the Beloit Free Press prints the following comment on the recent statement which Harpers Weekly made in quoted a Janesville lawyer's opinion of Bryan.

W. H. Dougherty of Janesville claiming to be a Democrat, has written to Harpers Weekly saying that many of the authorities of that city will not support Mr. Bryan and will vote for Mr. Hughes instead. That attention is not to be found in Beloit for there is only a handful of the faithful here who are willing to admit that they are Democrats, the most of them having slipped into the Republican fold to get office. And Beloit Republicans, look the list of paying offices of the city over and see how many of them are held by Democrats. That little minority is smooth!

ARCHBISHOP RIORDAN RETURNS.
Thinks Dr. Hanna Will Be Appointed
Coadjutor Soon.

New York, Feb. 10.—Archbishop
Patrick William Riordan of San Francisco, whose recent mission to Rome
was both for rest and to advocate the appointment of Rev. Edward J. Hanna
of Rochester as coadjutor archbishop
of San Francisco, returned Sunday on board the steamship Cedric.
While the congregation of the propaganda last month failed to take final
action with reference to the appointment of a coadjutor archbishop of San Francisco, preferring to await
further information could be obtained bearing on the charges that Dr.
Hanna had dealings toward modernism, Archbishop Riordan declared his
belief that the congregation would appoint Dr. Hanna at a future meeting.
He said that three names had been
presented for the coadjutorship and
that these would be debated at the congregation which will meet in March to take up western affairs. The
hope, he said, was in good health considering his advanced age, and kept closely in touch with affairs in this country.

ARCHBISHOP RIORDAN RETURNS.

Thinks Dr. Hanna Will Be Appointed
Coadjutor Soon.

New York, Feb. 10.—Archbishop
Patrick William Riordan of San Francisco, whose recent mission to Rome
was both for rest and to advocate the appointment of Rev. Edward J. Hanna
of Rochester as coadjutor archbishop
of San Francisco, returned Sunday on
board the steamship Cedric.
While the congregation of the propaganda last month failed to take final
action with reference to the appointment of a coadjutor archbishop of
San Francisco, preferring to await
further information could be obtained bearing on the charges that Dr.
Hanna had dealings toward modernism, Archbishop Riordan declared his
belief that the congregation would ap-
point Dr. Hanna at a future meeting.
He said that three names had been
presented for the coadjutorship and
that these would be debated at the
congregation which will meet in March to take up western affairs. The
hope, he said, was in good health considering his advanced age, and kept
closely in touch with affairs in this
country.

GIRL FROM CHILI
AT OPERA HOUSE

Farce Comedy Holds the Boards at
the Myers Theatre Saturday Night.

At the Myers Saturday night the
"Girl from Chili" was the attraction.
It is a comedy on the style of the Wrong Man, Wright in which the hero gets into all sorts of mixups before he wins the girl he loves. All the other characters in fact become more or less entangled through the influence of a certain plan which inspired everyone to do a thing with a desire to win a certain girl. Numerous songs in the course of the play added to its interest.

The show was well worth the price charged and pleased those who witnessed it.

but in order to give every one an op-

Gazette office before that time.

Don't Try Uncertain Recipes
It is entirely unnecessary to experi-recipe. Why waste time, money and patience when you can get from your grocer, for 10 cents, a package of

"QUICK" Preparation—Lemon,
Chocolate or Custard—for making pies
that are so good that when you eat one piece you will want another? The way to please the men-folk is to give them good pie.

TO PRESERVE COMPETITION

The conditions under which industry and trade may successfully be carried on require that there should be enough competition to give them the stimulus of self-preservation and that in the exercise of that competition it should not be retarded by any irreparable obstruction.

This, in a general way, is the trend of the conclusions brought to light by the series of decisions of the supreme court of the United States under the Sherman act. This act, to prevent restraint of trade, has been virtually a dead letter for the greater part of twenty years. It is now being applied with an effectiveness that is arousing much attention on the part of the two most prominent forms of collective enterprise, namely, corporations and unincorporated trades unions.

The decisions thus far rendered have endeavored to preserve the principle of competitive enterprise among corporations by restraining efforts at consolidation. The Joint Traffic association case and the Northern Securities case are instances in point. The government's suit against the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific lines is intended to serve the same purpose, namely, to break up a stable arrangement and introduce a freer and more dynamic quality into the services rendered by these two lines. There is no doubt that this act has served to check the tendency to consolidation and thus preserved something of the elements of competition against the steady drift and purpose toward monopoly.

The application of the Sherman act to the conduct of labor organizations regards the principle of competition from another direction. In the Norwalk matters case a labor union was accused of boycotting an establishment whose proprietors refused to operate on a unionized basis of employment. The court took the view that inasmuch as collective conduct of a prejudicial nature on the part of the union was established as a fact the union was liable for such injury, regardless of whether it was incorporated or not. This affirms the principle of collective responsibility in an entirely new field.

However this conclusion may strike the general observer, it is certainly not consistent with sound business policy that, after an industry has been built up by the enlistment of capital and business management in cooperation with labor, any organized power whatever should be permitted to exert freely and unrestrained by law such an influence against that industry as to practically ruin it. The moral sense of the community will not always endure such things. Therefore this development of law by judicial decision is welcomed.

"ANOTHER DISCLOSURE"

Every so often some enterprising journal discovers that some of the great masterpieces of literature were stolen by their authors from older and less famous writers. There is a great hue and cry about the affair and when the smoke clears away no fire is discovered and another sensation is exploded. Recently the Chicago Tribune made the startling discovery that Longfellow's Hawthorne was copied from the great Finnish epic, The Kalevala.

In commenting on this fact the Milwaukee Sentinel has the following suggestion to make to the creator of sensationalism which is worth considering:

"Once more the 'discovery' is proclaimed that Henry Wadsworth Longfellow borrowed or copied his famous poem, The Song of Hiawatha, from the Finnish epic, The Kalevala. This time the discovery is made by the editor of the Yecuman Shield, published in Des Moines, Ia. It is not surprising that this momentous disclosure should be periodically announced.

"In fact, his recurrence may be looked for more and more frequently as the exhalted old poem of Finland becomes better known and copies of it are more generally distributed, for the parallelism in style is so striking as at once to impress any one who has read Longfellow's immortal version of the native American legend, written in the same rhymless trochaic dimeter. And of course the discoverer will hasten into print with his revelation, foregoing any further inquiry lest a complete knowledge of the facts will spoil the sensationalism which seems so sweet a morsel because it imparts the air of plagiarism to a literary idol.

"No, the Des Moines discoverer will cause no more astonishment than it will among the admirers of the New England poet; though it is somewhat amazing that the Chicago Tribune should regard it as so important and so new as to accord it a place on its first page under display headlines implying that the poem was stolen.

"Had the Tribune consulted even so accessible an authority as the Century dictionary it would have found that the similarity was recognized, while the article on Finnish literature in the New International Encyclopedia would have told it that Hawthorne approaches a true imitation of the ancient epic. Stedman in his Poets of America, published in 1885, refers to the peculiar meter of Hawthorne, and says that Longfellow 'made sure of its effect in older literature, and mainly, as was noted at the time, in the Finnish epic of Kalevala.'"

"As was noted at the time in Stedman, because it was known when Hawthorne appeared in 1851 that Longfellow had taken as a model for the structure in which he set forth his legend the mythological narrative which was one of the world's oldest pieces of literature. And the author made no secret of it himself, even to the transposition of certain lines almost intact. But he did it as the builder makes use of an established style of architecture which he deems harmonious with new purposes.

"In Longfellow's own journal of that year we find under June 5: 'I am reading with great delight the Finnish epic Kalevala. It is charming.' And seventeen days later: 'I have at length hit upon a plan for a poem on the American Indians, which seems to me the right one, and the only. It is to weave together their beautiful traditions into a whole. I have hit upon a measure, too, which I think the right and only one for such a theme.' Could any investigator fail to see the connection, and its acknowledgment? Six days more finds the name Hawthorne given to the work, by which title it is frequently alluded to until its appearance a few months later.

"Longfellow's power of adaptation was known to be great, and it was this, coupled with his mastery of languages, that gave such success to his translations. His Building of the Ship, which has been described as having had as much effect in developing a sense of nationality as anything ever written, not excepting the Declaration of Independence or Webster's reply to Hayne, in form is a frank imitation of Schiller's Song of the Bell.

"There is still more than sufficient in the writings of this poet, even tempered scholar who wrote for the delight and uplift of the middle classes to entitle him to fame not only for originality, but for versatility. The Tales of a Wayside Inn, Countess of Mar, Excelsior, Poems on Slavery and many others will be read in many languages with gratitude as long as literature endures. He was above all wholesome and moral, and his interpretations of primitive nature and the commonplace affairs of life were rendered in such a manner as to inspire an understanding of the better things.

"His influence on American life was permanent and salutary. We can well rejoice with Charles J. Johnson that the foundations of our literature were laid by artists of the normal and healthy type, and believe that a civilization which produced a poet like Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, must hold in its heart some of the love of beauty and righteousness which was the underlying principle of his verse."

So Wisconsin Democrats prefer Hughes to Bryan. This is the statement of a Janesville member of the great unvoiced, in writing to the Harpers Weekly his opinion. It is lucky they prefer someone to Bryan, but why always pick a dead one?

What is a Lyric?
Among the ancient lyrical poetry was a verse to be sung to the accompaniment of the lyre, or harp. In modern usage the term lyrical is confined to songs relating to feelings or emotions, as distinct from descriptive songs. For instance, the "Day of Biscay" is a song, but not a lyric; while Burns' "Highland Mary" is an exquisite specimen of the lyric.

Direful Prediction.
In a speech before the parliament of New South Wales, Australia, E. W. Sullivan said: "The present ministry may blunder about for a few months, but while gazing at the stars they will stumble over the pebbles and then the ambulance will take them to the hospital where the grinning skulls of their predecessors are stored."

DEMS OF COUNTY ALL FOR BRYAN

DELEGATION INSTRUCTED FOR THE "PEERLESS ONE."

AT TODAY'S CONVENTION

"We'll Show That Dougherty He Is the Only Man Against the Nebraska in the County," Said DeLoiter.

"I don't know who this 'W. H. Dougherty' is but an article he has written for Harper's Weekly to the effect that Janesville democrats are divided has gone all over the country and seems to indicate that the county is for Hughes. I believe in showing Dougherty that he is way off. We're for Bryan!" This statement made by DeLoiter John Riddard of Holoit at the Rock county democratic convention this afternoon apparently clinched the matter of instructing the delegation. C. J. Hendricks, J. J. Leary of Holoit, and others favored an endorsement of the Nebraska in the local convention but supported an amendment not to bind the delegates beyond an obligation to "use their best efforts to promote his candidacy."

The amendment was lost by a vote of 12 to 10, and the original motion instructing the twelve unqualifiedly to vote for no representative at the Denver convention was not presented to the Great Commoner, carried with a whole.

J. J. Cunningham was elected chairman of the convention and P. J. Mount secretary. It was decided by a motion that Rock county's representation of twelve in the state convention which meets in Milwaukee on Thursday, the 13th, should be apportioned as follows: 1st assembly district, 5; 2nd district, 4; and third district, 3. Owing to the fact that the number who wished to attend the convention was found to be larger than the delegations provided for, it was decided that votes should be halved wherever deemed advisable. It was further provided, however, that the representation from Rock county should cast the entire vote of the delegation and that proxies should be given or taken when necessary.

C. J. Hendricks' motion, after the defeat of his amendment, to send the Bryan resolution to Milwaukee and disperse with the delegates was ruled out of order by the chair.

Those who will cast the five votes of the Janesville district are: Ex-Mayor J. P. Hutchinson, Alderman J. J. Dulin, L. P. Connor, Geo. G. Sutcliffe, P. J. Mount, J. J. Cunningham, and Geo. Turk of La Prairie. In case all go the first and last named will have one-half votes.

The four votes from the northern district will be cast by Andrew Johnson of Edgerton, Thos. Ellingson, Alfred Henderson, and Frank Morris of Milton Junction.

Those who will cast the three votes from the Holoit district are: Matt F. Lathers, Ira W. Jones, J. E. Burns, E. M. Cary, H. A. McShonoph, and Cornelius Buckley.

The committee which placed these men in nomination was composed of Christopher Hoan of Edgerton, Frank Morris of Milton Junction, John Riddard and J. E. Burns of Holoit, and C. J. Hendricks of Janesville. Holoit sent 10 men to the local session. Some line city men who took a prominent part in the proceedings were: Cornelius Buckley, John and Ira Jones, William and Charles Lathers, and Patrick Hawkins.

$1,079.79 TRIBUTE PAID BY PHONE COS.

Gross Receipts of the Rock County Telephone Co. show an increase of $2,769.26 Over 1906 Total.

License fees from the Wisconsin Telephone Co. amounting to $553.54 and tribute from the Rock County Telephone Co. totaling $526.25, have been turned over to City Treasurer James Fathers. The city's aggregate revenue from these sources is therefore $1,079.79.

The tribute from the Wisconsin Co. are derived from a four per cent tax on 85 per cent of the gross receipts from exchange service for the year ending Dec. 31, 1907. These receipts were $16,280.51, an increase of $1,266.34 over the total for the previous year.

Because it is a much smaller concern, the Rock County Telephone Co. pays but 2 1/2 per cent tax on 85 per cent of the gross receipts, which latter amounted to $21,761.26 during the year 1907. The increase in business over the previous year was $2,769.26.

The city treasurer today turned over to Deputy County Treasurer Ben

W. Smith the sum of $17,120.99, which represents Janesville's share of the state tax.

NEW BALDWIN TRACK

Noted Turfman Finally Completes the Arcadia in California.

LOCATED ON HIS RANCH.

The Great Course is a Marvel, and Owner is in Complete Control—Finest of the Corrigan-Condon Western Racing Scrap.

At pretty near life's close one of the most unique characters of the world has realized an ambition which he has cherished, the opening of the new Arcadia race course, Arcadia, Cal., by "Lucky" Baldwin, and as he says, "I desire no other monument." In one of the prettiest spots on his famous ranch he built his track, and the beauty of its surroundings makes one marvel. It is Baldwin's track on Baldwin's ranch in Baldwin's town, the little city of Arcadia is Baldwin's own creation, and he controls it the same as his own household.

For more than twenty-five years Baldwin cherished the hope that he would live to see a modern race track upon his vast domain. Many times he laid his plans, but circumstances arose which caused them to be abandoned. Financial reverses came, and during the years which followed Baldwin paid no interest on mortgages amounts sufficient to have capitalized many banks. When with the recent years of great national prosperity the tide of his fortunes turned, he again revived the plans for his track.

Four years ago his arrangements were virtually completed, and he announced that he would build a track, but opposition developed in an unexpected quarter, and Arcot was opened. When the extension of the municipal boundaries of the city of Los Angeles put Arcot out of business, Baldwin took advantage of the situation. The Santa Anita track is the result.

The success of the meetings at Arcot convinced some of the leading horsemen of the country that racing could be made to pay in the southern end of the state, and when Baldwin sought financial backing there was an instant response. The Baldwin racing association was organized and work begun. Baldwin knew just what he wanted and was given free rein in the matter of details. In one of the prettiest spots on his famous ranch he has built a track which is the marvel of all who have visited it.

Edward Corrigan, the master mind of the American Turf association, is now said to be in absolute control of racing at New Orleans and throughout the west. The "master of Hawthorne," who has never backed out of a fight, has forced the Western Jockey club, which is owned by the Colia combination, into the background.

This startling announcement was made by Colonel Remond, who is allied with the Colias of St. Louis and who said recently that the license and jockey fees were held up by the American Turf association, which is under the control of Corrigan, whereas the racing at the fair grounds, New Orleans, is supposed to be under the Western Jockey club rules.

This clash is a culmination of a battle of years between Corrigan and blind John Condon. It dates back to Chicago when racing was at its height. Corrigan, who owned the south side track, ordered Condon to close his pool rooms during the meeting at that course, but the blind gambler refused to comply with the request. This engendered a bitter enmity between the pair.

To get even with Corrigan, Condon bought Garfield park and ran it as a rival. Corrigan entered several of his horses in the first stake event run at the course, turned the Garfield Park Derby, and he and his friends lost $300,000 on a colossal plunge. The fight between the pair was the real cause of the death of racing in Chicago. The fight then sought New Orleans as a battleground. Corrigan built the City park track in opposition to Condon's Crescent City course, and both ran rival meetings.

The loss to both was so tremendous that friends of both sides managed to arrange an agreement between the rivals to race alternately. This season everything was supposed to be running very smoothly, although the officials that were appointed to run both tracks were known to be favorable to Corrigan's interests. In the midst of most horsemen Corrigan is somewhat of a menace to the good interests of the turf, and this move may cause the end of racing at the Crescent City.

GOSSIP OF THE RING.

Bill Clark, the "Belfast Chicken," at Eighty, Issues Challenge.

KETCHELL AFTER SULLIVAN.

Montana Middleweight to Meet One of the Famous Twins at Colma Feb. 22. Tommy Ryan Wants Fight—Schreck on Trail of the Heavies.

Bill Clark, the "Belfast Chicken," who is the oldest living prize fighter in the world, recently celebrated his eightieth birthday in a manner befitting one who earned honors in the roped arena a quarter of a century or more before the present pugilistic heroes saw the light of day. The "Belfast Chicken" probably is the youngest man for his years in the United States and puts the Osler theory to flight in a manner that causes even his friends to sit up, for Bill, as one of the features of his "party," went three rounds with a boxer young enough to be his grandson and made the latter feel glad when it was all over.

He furthermore astonished his friends who had gathered at his swimming school in St. Louis to help usher in his eightieth year by announcing he would fight any man eighty years old to a finish for a purse of any size. Bill was not joking when he issued his del, and his friends, who are familiar with the old man's agility, feel confident he would be more than a match for any man fifteen years younger. Clark in issuing his challenge to the world of old men does not specify any weight or number of rounds, but simply insists that all who accept his challenge produce a birth certificate showing their age to be equal to his.

Willie Lewis, who never shone resplendently either as a light or a welter weight, appears to have struck his gut in the middleweight division, and unless he is overcome by the somnolence that has marked his career in the past he may make some trouble for the young fellows who are struggling for the middleweight crown that is slipping from the uneasy head of Tommy Ryan.

Battling Nelson was asked recently by a promoter of Bakersfield, Cal., if he would fight Aurelio Herrera in Bakersfield, Herrera's home town. "Bar" replied that if a purse of $5,000 was guaranteed he would fight the Mexican and would require that Herrera post "an ironclad bond" that he would not run out as he did a year ago.

Tommy Ryan, middleweight champion, says he is straining his hearing for a whisper of defiance from either Billy Papke or Hugo Kelly. Ryan is in constant training and ready for battle on short notice.

Jimmy Britt, the California lightweight, is ready to fight again. His brother Willis is busily engaged trying to arrange a twenty round bout between Jimmy and Battling Nelson.

Mike Schreck, the heavyweight fighter of Cincinnati, who is determined to go right along fighting all the big fellows, has signed articles of agreement for two battles. He will meet Jim Barry, the Chicago pugilist, in New Orleans the later part of February for ten rounds and then meet Marvin Hart, who recently re-entered the ring, for twenty-five rounds at Goldfield, Nev., on April 1.

Stanley Ketchell of Montana is to have another workout in Jimmy Corbett's arena at Colma, Cal., Washington's birthday, his opponent being Mike ("Twin") Sullivan of Boston. The contest is to be in the afternoon, and the men are to weigh in at 154 pounds at 2:15 in the afternoon. Billy Roche is to referee. The boxers are to receive 50 per cent of the gross receipts. This bout ought to prove whether Mike is able to hold his own in the welterweight division, to which he now aspires. He has worked his weight up from 135 pounds four years ago to a figure where it now seems impossible for him to even make the welterweight limit. Ketchell fights on the same lines as Billy Papke, so his work against a clever artist like Sullivan will be watched with interest.

BITS OF HUMOR

DEAR LITTLE BROTHER.

Brown—Well, you've got the quar-
tor; is your sister coming down?
"I've arranged it beautifully, old chap. I told her it was you, first, and she said to tell you she was out, and then I said I was feeling, and that it was Charley Jones, and you ought to have seen her hustle to get into a clean shirt! Well! She'll be right down!"—Chicago Journal.

VERY ORIGINAL.

Jack—That man who has charge of the pond is very original.
Jesse—How in that?
Jack—I told him not to allow any corpulent people to skate, so he put up a sign: "Thin ice for thin people."

HE HAD BEEN THERE HIMSELF.

Mrs. Witt—Don't swear like that,
George, just because the boys hit you with a snowball. Don't lose your temper.
Mr. Witt—Lose my temper, nothing.
I'm just swearing to please the boys.
That's what they want.

THOSE GIRLS AGAIN.

Jack—Do you girls really trust each other?
Dollie—Of course we do. Ethel just told me she was in love with you. She confided in me because she knew I wouldn't tell!

THEY WERE BOTH SURPRISED.

Clergyman—I am surprised to see you here, Smith.
Convict No. 100—So was I, or I'd never a bit here.

VERY SPRINGY.

Wearly Willie—Why do they leap
so high?
Walker Long—Oh, I suppose it's
'cause goysers are composed of spring water.

HIS ONLY PAIR.

Brown—I sent my trousers over to the tailor's yesterday to be repaired.
Little Hinks—I wondered why I didn't see you.

PHYSIOLOGICAL PHENOMENON.

"They say that poor old Dick has water on the brain."
"Great Scott! How did he develop that?"
"What, the water?"
"No, the brain."

NOT MUCH ELSE.

Helen—Freddy has a cold in his
head.
May—I've been wondering.
Helen—Wondering what?
May—What Freddy had in his
head.

A GREAT INVENTION.

Doggs—Was that burglar alarm
you invented a success?
Joggs—Must have been. The burglar phoned it when they broke in.

LIMITED TRAIN IS DERAILED.

Accident on Wabash Railroad Shakes Up the Passengers.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 10.—The Continental limited passenger train, on the Wabash railroad, west bound, was derailed Sunday by a broken rail at Dohi, Ont., 160 miles east of Detroit. At the office here of Division Superintendent Sims it is stated that when the cars left the rails they did not turn over, and that none of the passengers or train crew sustained any injury other than bruises.

Quits Pulpit to Fight Saloons.
Cleveland, O., Feb. 10.—Rev. Charles M. Carroll, pastor of the Howe Avenue Congregational church, tendered his resignation Sunday to accept the superintendency of the anti-saloon league in the Pittsburgh district.

Carroll's headquarters will be in Pittsburgh. The retiring minister was pastor of the Howe Avenue church for 14 years, was one of the best-known ministers of that denomination in this city and was widely known as an orator.

Detroit Has a "Dry" Sunday.
Detroit, Mich., Feb. 10.—This city was a "dry town" Sunday to a more sweeping extent than has been known here for years. On account of a warning issued by Police Commissioner Smith no saloons were open Sunday business and few if any were permitting a surreptitious use of the side door. Hotels were included in the prohibition program and drug stores banished liquor flavors from their soda fountains.

"Hurt nothing," retorted Mortimer vindictively. "You've had sensation hatched out of you by this time. I guess society has landed you a few while I was hoisting you over the out-works. There's another lady, that's all."

"If it goes at that, then," said Plank, retreating. "And now let me ask you a question—where were you going when I met you?"

"What do you want to know for?" said Mortimer sullenly.

"Why, I'll tell you, Leroy. If you have any idea of identifying yourself with Quarrier's people, of seeking him at this juncture with the expectation of investing in a money in his schemes, you had better not do so."

"Investing?" sneered Mortimer. "Well, no, not exactly, having nothing to invest, thanks to my being excluded into joining the Amalgamated Electric gang. Don't worry. If there's any shaking down to be done I'll do it, my friend. And he rose and started toward the elevators."

"Wait," said Plank. "Why, man, you can't frighten Quarrier. What did you sell your holdings for? Why didn't you come to me—to me? What's the use of going to Quarrier now and seeking? You can't scare a man like that."

Mortimer fairly grinned in his face. "You're mistaken," he sneered. "I'm not under a delusion. I want you to understand a few things, my friend, and one of them is that I'm not afraid of Quarrier, and another is I'm not afraid of you."

"Leroy?"

"No, not afraid of you either!" repeated Mortimer, with an ugly stare. "You keep a civil tongue in your head after this—do you understand?—and we'll get on all right. If you don't, I've the means to make you!"

"Are you crazy?"

"Not a bit of it. Too sane for you and Lolla to hoodwink!"

"You are crazy!" repeated Plank, agitated.

"Am I? You and Lolla can take the matter into court if you want to—unless I do. And—here he leaned forward, showing his teeth again—"the next time you kiss her close the door!"

Then he went away up the marble steps and entered an elevator, and Plank, grave and pale, went out into the street and entered his big touring car. But the drive up town and through the sunlit park gave him no pleasure, and he entered his great house with a heavy, hollow step, head bent as though counting every creak in the stones under his laughing feet. For the first time in all his life he was afraid of a man.

The man he was afraid of had gone directly to Quarrier's office, missing the gentleman he was seeking by such a small fraction of a minute that he realized they must have passed each other in the elevators, he ascending while Quarrier was descending.

Perilous to think of the time he had wasted with Plank, he crawled into a hansom and bade the driver take him to a number he gave, designating one of the new limestone basement houses on the upper west side.

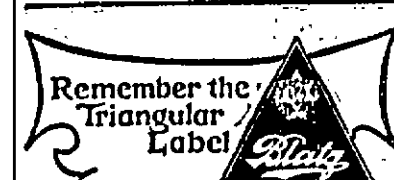

All the way up town as he jolted about in his hansom he regretted the meeting with Plank even in spite of the check. What demon had possessed him to hesitate—to display his hand when there had been no necessity? Plank was still ready to give him aid at a crisis, had always been ready. Time enough when Plank turned stinging to two persons.

He lay back, rolling about in the jouncing cab, seething at space.

"I'll shake down Quarrier," he said to himself. "I'll make him pay for his treachery—scaring me out of Amalgamation! That will be restitution, not extortion!"

He was angry because he had been for days screwing up his courage to the point of seeking Quarrier face to face. He had not wished to do it. The scene and his own attitude in it could only be repugnant to him, although he continually explained to himself that it was restitution, not extortion.

"Oh," he groaned, "what an ass I am!" And he got out of his cab in front of a very new limestone basement house with red geraniums blooming on the window sills and let himself in with a latchkey.

The interior of the house was attractive in a rather bright, new, clean fashion. The maid, too, who appeared at the sound of the closing door and took his hat and gloves was as neatly groomed as the floors and woodwork and so polished as to be conspicuous in her swift, silent movements.

"Anybody here?" he growled, peering into the drawing room at a tiny grand piano in an unvarnished Circassian walnut.

"There is nobody at home, sir," said the maid.

He began to ascend the stairway, breathing heavily, then, that over the deep violet strip, his fat hand grasping the banister rail.

Somewhere on the second floor a small dog barked, and Mortimer traversed the hall and opened the door into a room hung with gold Spanish leather and pale green curtains.

"Hello, Tinto!" he said sharply as a tiny Japanese spaniel hurried herself at him, barking furiously. Then began writhing and weaving herself about him, gurgling recognition and welcome.

Presently another maid entered, with an apple cut into thin wafers and a decanter of port, and Mortimer lay back in his chair, sipping his apple in the thick, crimson wine and feeding morsels of the combination to himself and to Tinto at intervals until the apple was all gone and the decanter three-fourths empty.

It was very still in the room—so still that Mortimer, opening his eyes at longer and longer intervals to peer at the door, finally opened them no more.

It was still daylight when Mortimer awoke, conscious of people about him. As he opened his eyes a man laughed, several people seated by the windows joined in. He yawned, laughed, turned his heavy eyes from one to another, recognizing a couple of young girls at the window. He didn't want to get up, but there is in the society he now adorned a stringency of etiquette known as "restraint" and which to ignore is to become unpopular.

Y.; December 16, 1820. For several years in the army he was attached to the staff of Gen. U. S. Grant.

City Marshal Kills Two Men.
Marion, Ill., Feb. 10.—City Marshal William Abney shot and killed Ambrose Grogan and Frank Blake on the street here at midnight in a fight following the marshal's attempts to send the men home. The coroner's jury justified the officer's act. Later a warrant was issued and Abney was held on $5,000 bond.

with runners unfiled along their bottoms, enabling them to go through the water and over ice with equal facility. The scooter was invented several years ago by a Long Island ice yachtsman, and now owners of the novel craft can be counted by scores.

trial heats of ten miles with a time limit of thirty-five minutes, and then the two fastest ice boats and scooter boats are to sail a twenty mile race for the championship, with a time limit of an hour and ten minutes, or, in other words, the ice boat is to sail two miles to the scooter's one. The largest ice boat on Orange Lake carries 425 square feet of canvas to the scooter's 270 square feet of canvas, hence the handicap.

The scooter is a product of Great South Bay, where it is an evolution from the catboat and ice-boat, the ice boat not being practical there on account of the danger of running into open water and over ice hummocks which form on the bay. Captain Fred C. Thurber of Patchogue says he will sell his champion scooter, the Eagle, to New York harbor and up the Hudson to Newburg and then put the boat on the ice in Orange lake so as to demonstrate the all-around ability of the scooter.

Scooter racing has become very popular in various sections of the country, particularly in the east. Scooters are peculiarly built craft, being nothing more or less than small sloop yachts

SCOOTER VERSUS ICE BOAT.

Newburg, N. Y., to Be Scene of Unique Contest.

A handicap race between an ice boat and a scooter has been arranged. Commodore H. C. Higginson, a wealthy ice yachting enthusiast, who is a member of the Newburg Ice Boat club of New York, recently wagered $1,000 with a syndicate committee of the Great South Bay Scooter association of Long Island that one of his ice boats could sail twenty miles to any scooter's ten.

The race to take place on Orange lake, a pretty sheet of water six miles from Newburg on a mountain top 482 feet above the level of the sea.

It is proposed to send to Newburg four or five of the fastest scooters on the Great South bay and when the ice conditions permit to sail a number of
